PROPOSED: HDH HOUSING PLAN OVERVIEW

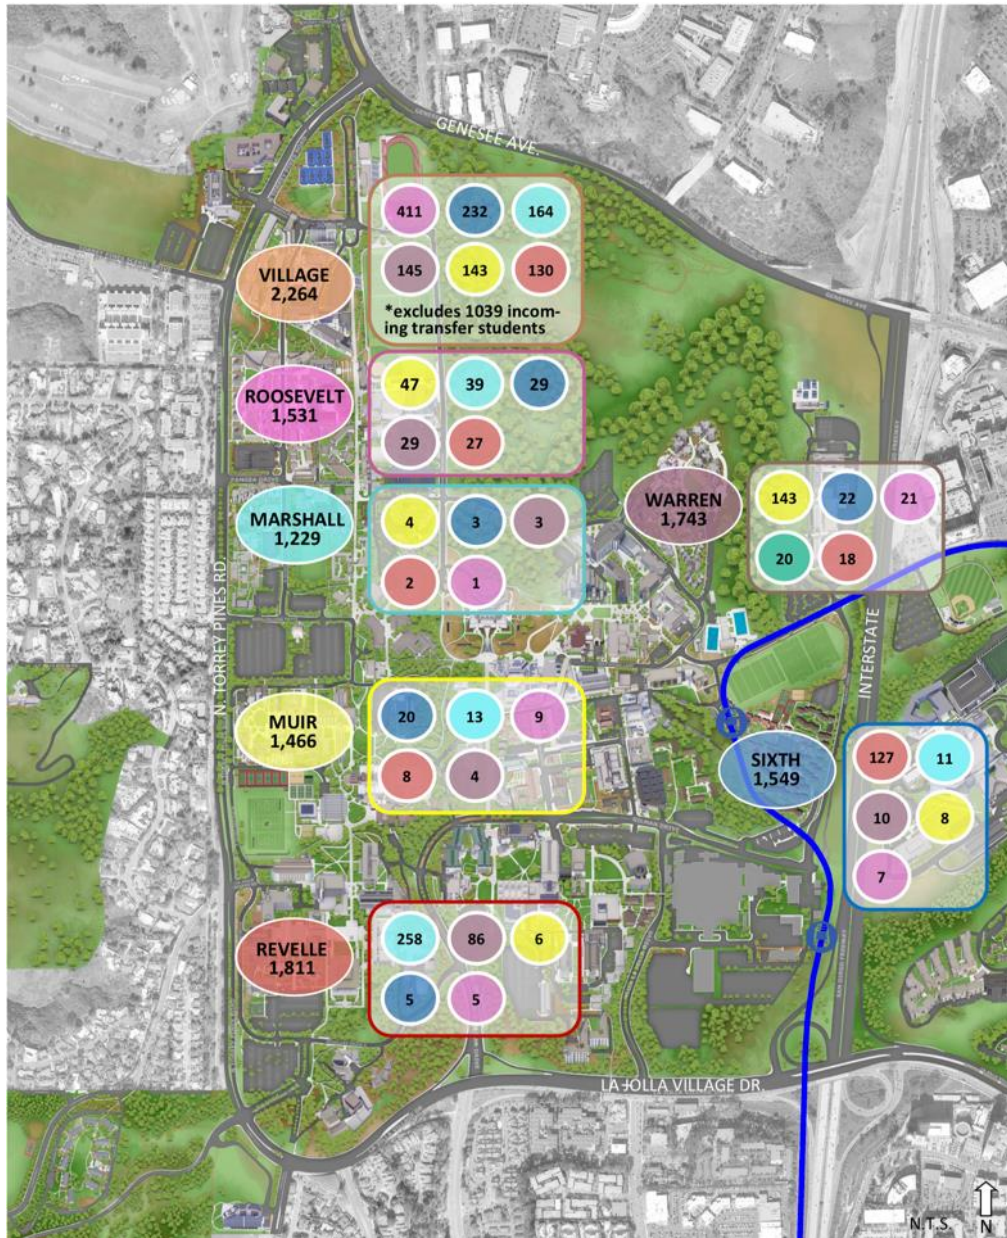

UC San Diego's reputation as one of the world's top research universities continues to see a rapid growth in undergraduate and graduate student enrollment. As a result, the demand for on-campus housing has increased.

In 2020, HDH will open two new graduate housing residential areas, Nuevo West (800 beds) and Nuevo East (1,380 beds), and undergraduate housing, North Torrey Pines Living and Learning Neighborhood (2,000 beds).

The university's Long Range Development Plan includes the accommodation of up to two additional undergraduate residential colleges to meet the needs of a growing student population.

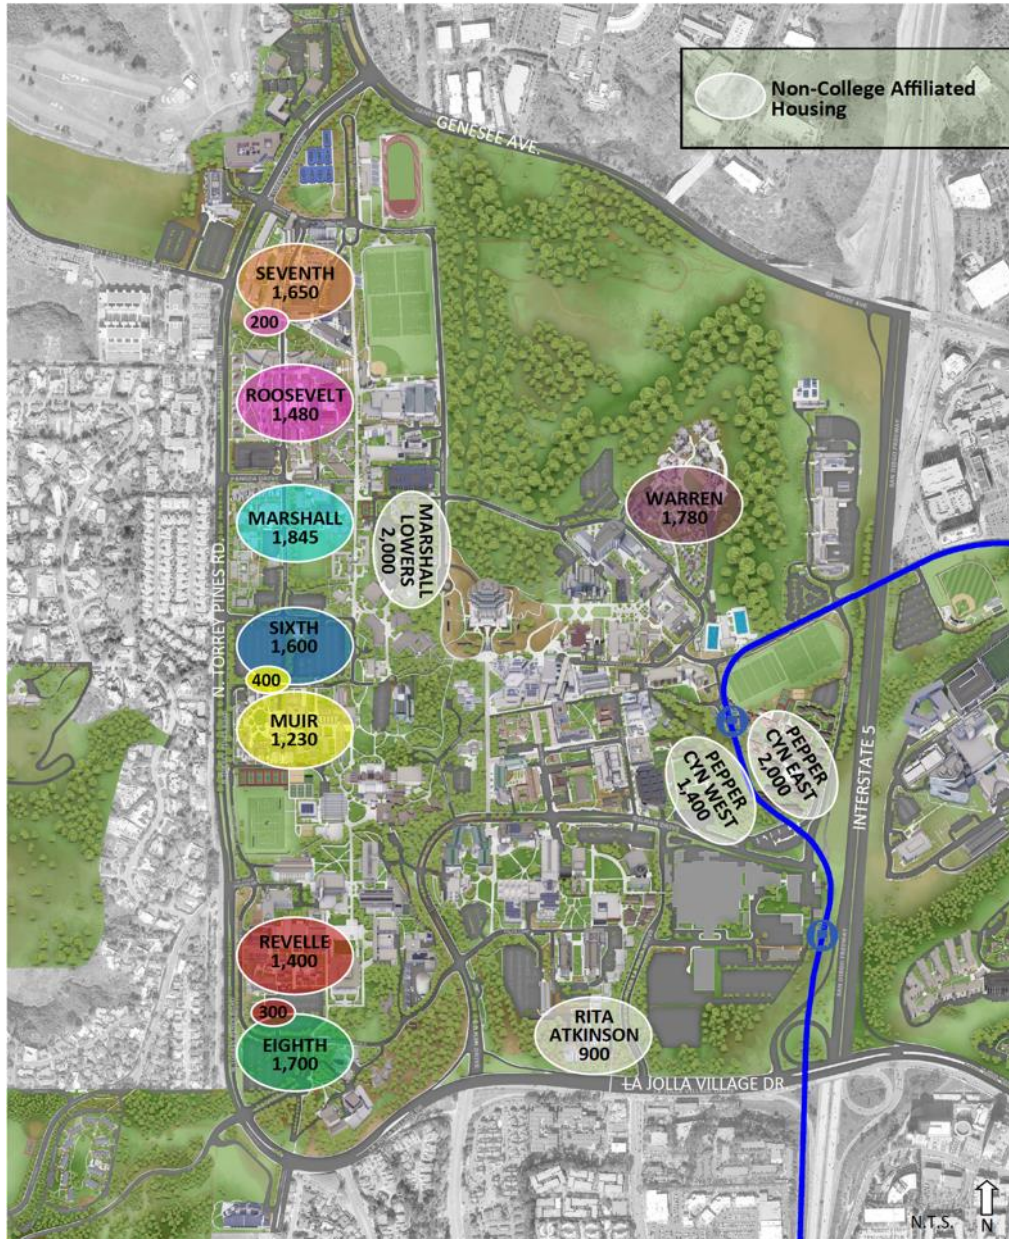

This allows for the strategic housing allocation of undergraduate (lower division), transfer and graduate students.

10/31/2018

Undergraduate Housing Existing Conditions

- Campus currently houses 11,620 undergraduate students
 - 9,300 in colleges
 - 2,320 in non-college housing
- Facilities designed to house 9,270
 - 2,350 beds over design capacity

Undergraduate Housing Plan (2028)

- Long-term goal
 - Allows for decompression of existing housing while balancing out total student enrollment to 4,000 per college
- Increases the percentage of all undergraduate students housed on campus from 39% to 62% by 2028

10/30/2018

Continue Converting Graduate Housing to Undergraduate at Warren College

- In Fall 2018, Bates Hall (100 beds) was converted to undergraduate housing
- In Fall 2019, Brown Hall (100 beds) converts to undergraduate housing for Warren students
- Helps address the need for more on-campus undergraduate housing
